

From the homepage or in screen time selector, the first option is to be able to select a different 'relative time' by a simple thumb drag gesture.

Time / date selection options

If something more specific is required then a distinct time and date can be set via gesture based interface (taken from Google Material design functionality).

